DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The Specification is objected to because it fails to identify the commonly assigned U.S. Patent Application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by McCarter et al. (US 2005/0065755 A1).

McCarter et al. disclose a water sampling system comprising a fluorometer for analyzing a water sample (see Abstract), a pump for introducing water to the fluorometer, a holding chamber 224 for dark conditioning the water sample prior to analyzing the water sample (see [0021]), and a discharge line 220 for discharging the water sample. The dark conditioning can be achieved by holding a water sample within the holding chamber for a period of 3 to 10 minutes prior to introducing the water sample to the fluorometer (see [0021]). The holding chamber 224 comprises a valve 252 for purging sediments from entering the fluorometer (see [0024]). The apparatus further comprises a wireless communication device for transmitting data analysis (see Abstract).

With respect to claim 7, it should be noted that the Specification does not provide a definition for the limitation "homeland security sensors" recited in the claim. Therefore, any sensor capable of detecting toxins will be construed to be within the scope of the limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McCarter et al. in view of Kahng et al. (US 5,817,954).

McCarter et al. do not disclose that the apparatus comprises a buoy.

Khang et al. disclose that sampling systems comprising a buoy are well known in the art (see lines 35-37, col. 1). In light of the disclosure of Khang et al., it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the apparatus disclosed by McCarter et al. such that it can be submerged in water and provide the apparatus with a buoy so that it can sample directly from the source.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Paul S. Hyun whose telephone number is (571)-272-8559. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday 8AM-4:30PM.
